The POWER of FAITH

1 he separate faiths of three iriends, a rabbi, a minister and a priest, have united to promote good will and religious under standing in Fresno, Calif., and then around the world.

Rabbi David Greenberg and Msgr. James Dowling became friends while doing social work among cotton pickers and growers in the Valley.

Joined by Dean James Malloch, the three went to work on the problem of juvenile delinquency in their area and achieved notable results

Realizing that a lack of knowledge caused prejudice and hate, they began a Radio Forum of Better Understanding that is now in its 20th year and is broadcast to Europe, South America and the Orient by the Voice of America.

Although they differ on tenets of faith, they stand together in a common purpose.

"Our purpose is to promote understanding," said the Dean. "And to fortify religion," said the Rabbi.

"We feel that religion is necessary for the stabilization of the family and the nation," said the Priest.

GIFT TO HUGUENOT SOCIETY-The historic Colonel Josiah Hasbrouck House (above) on Route 32 near New Paltz was one of three individual gifts received by the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz, according to the society secretary, Kenneth E. Hasbrouck. The white mansion deeded last week by Miss Annette I. Young, has been in Miss Young's family since it was built in 1814 and includes about 10 acres of land. A cash gift of approximately $3,000 was bequeathed to the society in the will of Miss Mariana LeFevre. The other bequest comprised of historical items and furnishings assessed at $3,000 was from the estate of Mrs. 7 and Thursday, Jan. 15. Sarah Elting DuBois LeFevre. (Freeman photo).

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY CONVERTIBILITY

Europe seems to be coming to its senses economically and although such matters are always difficult to work out, once the European countries get on the right track again, they will find the answer to many fiscal problems.

The last time they tried to solve these particular problems by concerted action was in 1933 at the London Economic Conference which was an effort to save Europe from many of the disasters that have occurred since then. That Conference, it will be recalled, was torpedoed by President Frankin D. Roosevelt who went off on a ship with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and became incommunicado when the President was most needed. It is said that he and Henry Morganthau, Jr., flipped coins to form decisions over the gold content of the dollar, or so Morgenthau reported subsequently.

At any rate, here we are 25 years and two wars later and the Europeans have at long last solved one of their principal economic questions themselves, namely, convertibility. There is a long word for a simple process: if you live in London and have pounds and you want to buy a case of wine in Paris, your problem is to get francs. Up to now, that presented quite a problem because the British Treasury had to decide whether and when you could use your pounds for that purpose and the French government would have to decide whether it wanted more pounds or would prefer for you to change your pounds into dollars first and buy the case of wine using dollars.

Lack of convertibility made trade difficult in every case. The real trouble was that each coun-An indication of the continuing expan-sion in this area is shown in the report of the American dollar was stable was not, as most

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.

TIPPING BARTENDERS

Dear Mrs. Post: On occasion when dining out with guests we usually have a cocktail at the bar before going into dinner. My husband aldays gives the bartender a very generous tip which I think wholly unnecessary. If we sat at a small table and had the waiter serve the cocktails, the waiter would of course be given a tip, but I don't think that a tip should be given when seated at the bar. Will you please settle this?

Answer: More and more people are giving tips to the bartender

Finishs for Pine Flooring

The ever-growing popularity of pine paneling in today's homes has led to a new interest in finishes for wood.

Time was when the standard natural finish was almost the only one considered for knotty pine paneling, but recent developments in home decorating and furnishings have given the homemaker a wide choice when it comes to finishes.

The Western Pine Association recommends that several factors be considered before the finish decision is reached. Reason for this is that while the woods of the western pine region are fair-ly easy to refinish, the economy of upkeep without refinishing is a great asset.

First, do you want a light feeling, or rich, dark texture? The finish on the walls will influence the atmosphere of the room. Next, color coordination is important. In the kitchen, for example, you might want to pick up a shade or tone already in the floor, drapes, or ceiling and incorporate it into the finish of the

There is a definite trend in new finishes toward those that show the natural grain and also toward more color

Several informative folders on new and unusual finishes are available free to readers who request them from the Western Pine Association, Yeon Building Portland 4, Ore.

Useless Window Can Be Attractive

Have you got a useless window you don't know what to do with in your home? If you have, you can turn it into a delightful shadow box for china and flower arrangements.

Cut a piece of fir plywood to fit the sizes of the window opening. Then fit in two or three plywood shelves. Paint the window trim in a bright, contrasting color to the frame box and you'll have a place to put small flower arrangements, a choice piece of china or silver and place for a few books.

Keep Air Filters Free From Dust

Dust clogged air filters tend to impede the flow of air through heating or air conditioning units This makes such units operate at higher temperatures than thermostat settings. This in turn boosts operating costs and cuts comfort performance. There are two general types of filter units. One made of oiled glass fibers compares in cost with a carton of cigarettes and is thrown away and replaced. Another, made of oiled metal filings can be cleaned, re-oiled and used indefinitely.

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK - (NEA) - Next to the play-off itself, there is ne thing we will remember about the 1958 football season. It is the picture of Larry MacPhail sitting in a Yankee Stadium box seat at the Colts-Giants championship game and comparing the situa-

"I never believed that pro football would catch on like this," said MacPhail, bundled in a great coat, a floppy hat covering his head. One of the great showmen of our time was looking at the third successive sell-out crowd enthusiastically responding to organized college-type cheerleaders. "I couldn't conceive the pros taking the play away from the colleges. They play so late I thought the weather would be against anything like this. But the pro owners who were around at the start deserve everything they get. They stuck with it through some lean days.

"Bert Bell, from out of its ranks, put the National Football League across. A real commissioner with unlimited authority and respect, he ignored every stupid restriction crackpots try to place on professional sports. He did what was best for the league and in his own way. He stuck to unlimited substitution, opening the door to specialists and permitting no letdown in the tempo of play. He put the goal posts back on the goal line, setting up the spectacular field goal.

"He put in the sudden-death extra period to assure the finality of the championship game."

THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE is paid for television, but television where Bell wants it to be. No TV in a city where a game is being played.

Could baseball do the same? "Of course it could," said MacPhail. "But they're so busy being silly in baseball that they don't have time to think like Bell, who acts while baseball officials talk." Ford Frick, the baseball commissioner, contends the major leagues can do nothing about curbing the televising of their games into minor league territory because that might be in violation of the anti-trust laws. Bell obviously refused to listen to legal advice of that nature, ordered the ban on TV where it would hurt. "I told Dan Topping that if the National League was ridiculous enough to leave New York the American League should put another club in Yankee Stadium," added MacPhail. "That practically would turn the National League into a western league, which is about all it amounts to now anyway.'

MAC PHAIL CURRENTLY BREEDING cattle and running which tried to kidnap the Kaiser, and then it was one of a group which tried to kidnap the Kaiser, and then it was close. He revived the Cincinnati and Brooklyn franchises, refurbished Yankee stadium. He introduced night baseball to the majors, campaigned against it being overdone.

So when MacPhail puts the job turned in by Bert Bell in pro football over anything baseball has done in more recent years, it is worth reporting.

Bell perhaps is the most capable administrator in sports today.

CONSIDER THE CHAMPION Colts. Five years ago, when the Dallas Texans were moved to Baltimore, Bell went to Carroll Rosenbloom, the textile, plastics and electronics magnate, and asked him to buy the defunct franchise. Bell had coached Rosenbloom as a halfback at Pennsylvania.

"He did not ask me to buy the franchise," recalls Rosenbloom. He beat me over the head until I came up with the money." Bell practically shoved Don Kellett into the Colts' general

Rosenbloom gave the franchise financial security. Kellett got he coach, Weeb Ewbank, and the players, Johnny Unitas and Alan Ameche, for two. Baltimore got a winner and now is one of the superior professional football properties. As Larry MacPhail stresses, baseball could use a little leader-ship of this type.

If, instead of being burnt, all the coal mined in the United States in one year were used as building stone, it would be enough to build a wall 10 feet thick and 17 feet high all the way around the country. There is enough energy in the coal—more than 500,000 tons of it—to lift such a wall 1,400 miles upward into space.

The few production figures that and Premier Nikita S. Khrush-chev's right-hand man, is ex-pected to press for sales of U. S. equipment and know-how when he visits this country next month. He also is expected to trade restrictions.

Both objectives of Mikoyan's fulfillment of Russia's chemical industry expansion—a key factor in its seven-year plan to boost over-all industrial output by 80 per cent.

No Threat to U. S.

sary nelp — it does fulfill its goals, Russia will still not eatch up with the U. S. new catch

These conclusions stem from an analysis of Russia's production record, from its own plans and from first-hand observa-tions by Chemical Week's Moscow news bureau.

Several factors indicate Russia's chemical industry seriously lags behind the rest of its economy. One, Russia has not stated its chemical expansion

Food Supplies Short Although a general strike called by the rebels until Urrutia takes over is only 48 hours old, food is already in short supply. Some gro-cery stores were broken into and looted during the night in central Havana. Police were rushed to the scenes to break up raids.

Unless the strike ends and there is a halt to the violence arising of the political situation, bloody riots may also develop.

Two rebels were shot dead Friday night near the Hilton Hotel and another near the University of Havana.

.02 Some areas of the fashionable West Side were blocked off and barricaded. Most foreigners stayed inside hotels, where the food supplies began to run low.

The strike shut down transportation except for a few taxis. Stores were closed, and it was impossible to buy many necessities. Havana's radio warned partisans against unnecessary shooting, and the rebels declared looters would be dealt with severely Rebel patrols tried to keep order in the streets.

Rebels kept pedestrians and automobiles from the Hotel Nacional, where many Americans were waiting for transportation home. Four Americans, William L.
